

Woodland Wire Trees are handmade by Jason Holcomb in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Each tree is unique and currently he has 4 complete and delivered to his family in Canton, GA to sell.

NOTE: These trees are art, are fragile and are not toys and not intended to be placed in reach of small children or pets.

The Woodland Wire Tree Story

In January 2024, Jason made a hard decision to accept a job in Raleigh, NC. This was best, but they did not want to move the whole family as they wanted their girls to finish high school at their current school, Creekview High School. One graduates this year and one next year, May 2025. At that time they will move to the Raleigh area. In the meanwhile, Jason has needed to find something to help pass the time after work and another means of income as managing two living quarters is challenging. Some men might have expensive hobbies or spend time playing games, but this husband makes wire trees as he looks forward to his family being together again soon.
